Foreword & welcome

A message from Aileen Edmunds, CEO of Longleigh Foundation

I have spent a lot of this year listening. To residents who have waited too long for a decent home. To partners trying to make the system work better. And to our own team, who see every day what a difference the right support, given at the right time, can make.

For many people living in social housing, unexpected financial pressures, poor health or life-changing events can quickly put stability out of reach. That's why Longleigh Foundation exists. We want everyone living in social housing to have the opportunity to thrive, on their own terms.

This year has been one of both continuity and ambition. When we launched our 2025 to 2028 strategy, we reaffirmed our commitment to that vision, while strengthening our ability to create lasting change through research, partnership and innovation.

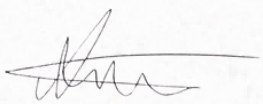

Throughout the year, we supported people facing immediate financial challenges through timely grants, alongside personalised and emotional wellbeing support. We also continued to evolve our approach, placing even greater emphasis on dignity, choice and listening to the voices of the people we serve.

Beyond our grant-making, we worked with partners across the housing sector to influence policy and practice. The evidence and insight from our work has helped improve outcomes for many more people living in social housing.

This report highlights our charitable activities and impact for the year ended 30 June 2026, together with our financial statements.

To everyone who has shared their experiences, their time or their support this year: thank you for helping us listen, learn and improve.

Aileen Edmunds
CEO, Longleigh Foundation

Foreword & welcome

A foreword from Fiona Ellison, Chair of Longleigh

Looking back over the year, I feel proud of what Longleigh has achieved, while remaining very aware of the pressures that residents, colleagues and partners continue to face.

As trustees, our role is to make sure Longleigh stays true to its mission while growing its impact in a careful and responsible way. Good governance is not just about process; it is about making thoughtful, fair decisions that translate into meaningful support for residents. This discipline matters more, not less, as demand grows and resources tighten across the sector.

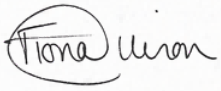

None of this progress would have been possible without the continued generosity of Stonewater, alongside new partnerships that are helping us extend our reach and deepen our capacity. I want to thank the Longleigh team and my fellow trustees for the thought, commitment and care they bring to this work every day.

Most importantly, I want to thank the residents who have trusted us with their experiences this year. Your voices help us understand what matters, and they challenge us to keep listening, learning and improving.

As we move into the second year of our 2025 to 2028 strategy, I am encouraged by the clarity of Longleigh's purpose and the strength of the partnerships around us.

There is more to do, but we are building from firm foundations.

Fiona Ellison
Chair, Longleigh Foundation

Our purpose

Vision

We believe in a future where:
"Everyone living in social housing has the opportunity to thrive, on their own terms."

Mission

As a grant-making foundation, we are accountable to people living in social housing, working to:

Provide emergency grants when money is tight and times are hard.

Fund trusted charitable organisations to support wellbeing, increase resilience and to encourage stronger community connections.

Invest in research that helps to shape fairer policies and better support services across the social housing sector.

Values

Compassion
We treat everyone with empathy, fairness, and respect – prioritising kindness in all our interactions.

Collaboration
We work with openness, honesty, and accountability – building strong, supportive relationships with others.

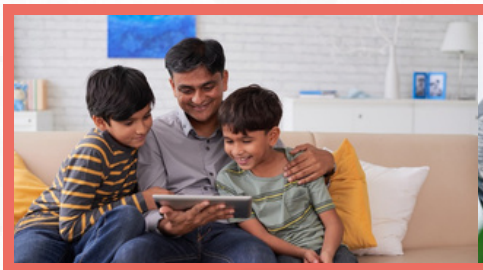

Commitment
We're dedicated, driven, and proactive – focused on making a real difference, every day.

Creating public benefit

Longleigh Foundation meets its public benefit obligation by helping people living in social housing to thrive.

The trustees have taken the Charity Commission's guidance on public benefit into account when reviewing the charity's aims and objectives and planning its activities.

We fund:

- Essential household items
- Crisis support (food, energy top-ups)
- Financial resilience (debt advice, employability support)
- Emotional wellbeing support
- Research that helps improve policy and practice in social housing

Our strategic priorities

During 2025/26, we began delivering our new three-year strategy, A Foundation for Purposeful Impact.

Our three priorities are designed to help us respond to immediate need while building our ability to create longer-term change.

Innovate to deliver even more meaningful impact

Develop new approaches that give people greater choice and respond to changing needs.

Increase our reach by diversifying our funding

Build new partnerships and sustainable funding so we can support more people and extend our influence.

Equip ourselves to deliver lasting change

Strengthen our people, governance, evidence and ways of working so we can deliver effectively for the long term.

Delivering our strategy

During 2025/26, we made progress across each of our three strategic priorities.

Innovate to deliver even more meaningful impact

We continued to evolve our grant-making and support services to respond to the needs of people living in social housing.

We introduced our cash-first Heating & Eating Grants pilot, giving people greater flexibility and choice in meeting essential household costs. Early evaluation showed strong resident outcomes and contributed to wider sector learning on more flexible approaches to grant-making.

We also strengthened our financial wellbeing offer through our partnership with Clean Slate, explored ways to increase access to affordable furniture and household goods, and refined our grant-making in response to learning and resident feedback.

Increase our reach by diversifying our funding

We strengthened Longleigh's profile, partnerships and financial sustainability during the year.

We secured funding from Oak Foundation to support the development of the National Tenant Alliance (working title), continued discussions with housing associations and other partners to develop new funding opportunities, and worked closely with Stonewater on longer-term funding arrangements that will provide greater stability for both Longleigh and our funded partners.

Alongside this, we increased our influence across the social housing sector. Our research and expertise informed national conversations on flooring standards, tenant voice and financial resilience, while conferences, webinars and media activity helped extend the reach of our learning and evidence.

Equip ourselves to deliver lasting change

We continued to strengthen Longleigh's organisational capability to support our long-term goals.

During the year, we enhanced our approach to impact measurement and reporting, embedded stronger governance through the recruitment of new trustees and additional improvements, and continued to invest in staff development, wellbeing and organisational culture.

We also took important steps towards embedding lived experience more consistently across our work. This included supporting the development of the National Tenant Alliance, preparing the groundwork for our Equity in Grant-making Review and finding new ways to ensure the voices of people living in social housing inform both our services and the wider systems that affect them.

In 2025/26, Longleigh approved 817 individual grants, awarding £586,597 in total. This was broadly in line with the previous year despite a notable rise in applications.

Applications increased during the year, partly following the introduction of our Heating & Eating Grants in August 2025. These grants provide support with food, daily essentials and utility payments that previously sat within our Hardship Grants. Separating this support into its own grant strand gives us clearer insight into how residents are using it.

Our individual grants go primarily to Stonewater residents. We also approved four grants for Stonewater staff, totalling £2,042.

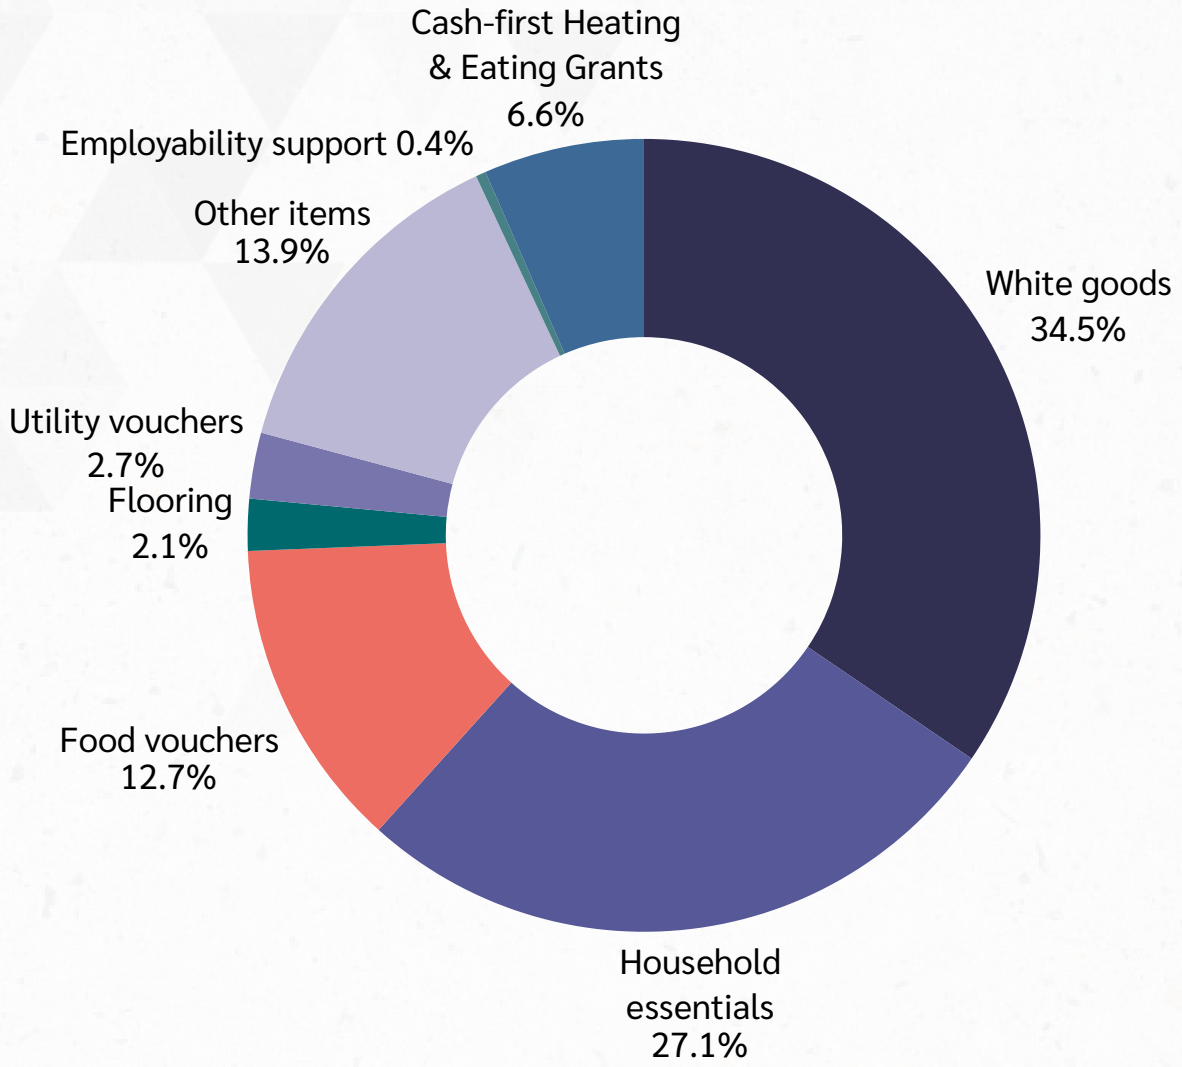

Health, housing transitions and family circumstances remained among the most common reasons people turned to us for support.

Supporting people through grants

Our grants helped to fund:

What residents were facing:

- Diagnosed health condition or disability
- Mental health condition or substance addiction
- Moving from homelessness or supported living into independent living
- Fleeing an abusive relationship
- Families with children in receipt of free school meals

Grantee voices: From refuge to a future in art

Emma's grant helped remove a practical barrier to continuing her studies after leaving home.

At 20, Emma made the difficult decision to leave home after experiencing emotional abuse. With nowhere else to go, she moved into a refuge, with few belongings and limited money for essentials.

Despite this, Emma remained determined to continue her education. She secured a place at college to study Art and Design, but did not have the equipment she needed for her course and couldn't afford to buy it.

Through Longleigh's Individual Grants programme, Emma received funding for the specialist art materials she needed to begin her studies.

With the right equipment, she has been able to fully participate in her course, develop her skills and continue working towards greater independence.

"I finally feel like I have a future to look forward to." - Emma

Grantee voices: A simple day out, made possible

For most families, a trip to the seaside takes very little planning. For *Tyler's family, it once meant carefully monitoring medication temperatures and sometimes turning back before they had even arrived.

Tyler is a young child living with a rare condition that affects his hormones and vision. His medication must be kept within a strict temperature range, making even short journeys difficult.

His family relied on ice in a flask and a temperature monitor, but if the medication became too warm, the trip had to end. Alongside the practical challenges, the family faced significant ongoing costs linked to his care, including specialist nappies, therapy and home tuition.

Through Longleigh's Individual Grants programme, the family received a portable medication fridge and power bank, allowing Tyler's medication to remain at the correct temperature wherever they go.

The difference was immediate. For the first time, Tyler's grandparents were able to treat the family to a four-day Christmas break, something that would previously have been impossible.

"I can't thank you enough. It's going to be life changing for my little boy and us. It means we will be able to take him away now."
- Tyler's Mother

Partnering to strengthen support

Our project and research partners

Longleigh works with organisations that bring specialist expertise, insight and connections to our work. Through these partnerships, we can support people living in social housing in ways that go beyond our own grant-making, while building evidence and learning that can contribute to wider change.

From financial and emotional wellbeing support to research and work to strengthen tenant voice, our partners play an important role in helping us deliver our strategy and extend the reach of our work.

We are grateful to the organisations and people we work alongside for their expertise, challenge and commitment to improving outcomes for people living in social housing.

Building financial confidence: Brandon's experience

Brandon's financial gains at a glance

£5,079.24 - Additional benefits accessed each year
£1,200 - Grant support secured
£6,279.24 - Total additional financial support over one year

*Brandon's Housing Officer referred him to Clean Slate after he struggled to make sense of the benefits system and understand what support he was entitled to. The pressure was affecting the whole family.

Clean Slate built a tailored action plan with Brandon, covering a full benefits check, grant applications and ways to cut household costs. This uncovered more than £5,000 a year in additional benefits he hadn't claimed before, alongside £1,200 in grant funding, a total of over £6,000 in extra support in a single year.

"Your support has made a real difference to our financial situation. But even more than that, your willingness to listen with such patience and genuine understanding came at a moment when I truly needed it."

Clean Slate also introduced Brandon to the Help to Save scheme, helping him build a savings habit and feel more confident planning ahead. For Brandon, the change wasn't only financial. Knowing there's a plan in place, and someone to turn to, has given him a steadier sense of what's ahead.

Partner voices

The partnership between The Kaleidoscope Plus Group and Longleigh Foundation has continued to flourish.

We have supported many people across the country with varying degrees of impacts on their mental health and wellbeing from everyday issues relating to housing disputes, relationship breakdowns and the struggles of navigating life.

Each service user that has worked with us has benefitted from counselling support unique to their presenting needs. We believe this is a vital pathway to ensure the wellbeing of service users is kept as a priority.

Ranjeet Takhar,
Senior Counsellor at KPG

When grief is hard to name: Sam's experience

When *Sam came to counselling, he was grieving the loss of his pet and felt stuck. Change was hard, and endings felt overwhelming. His counsellor adapted their approach to suit his communication needs, using the grief cycle to explore how loss can show up in different parts of life, not only through bereavement, but also moving home and changing jobs.

Over time, Sam felt heard and less alone. Grief takes time, but he left counselling with language for what he was experiencing, and practical steps to take when feelings became difficult to manage.

"I feel like someone understands my loss and doesn't look down on me for it being just a pet."

"I want to move forward. Counselling is something I have enjoyed this time around."

Research, policy and influence

Research and collaboration remain central to how Longleigh works towards creating lasting change for people living in social housing. Alongside providing practical support through our grant-making, we invest in evidence, social housing resident voice and partnerships to contribute to better policy and practice across the sector.

During 2025/26, our research continued to influence national debate on housing quality and social housing resident experience. Building on our earlier work on floor coverings in social housing, Longleigh was invited to join the Ministry of Housing, Communities and Local Government's (MHCLG) Floor Coverings Working Group, helping to inform future guidance following the Government's response to the Decent Homes Standard consultation.

We also continued to strengthen social housing resident voice within the sector. Following the publication of Tenants at the Table, we secured funding from Oak Foundation to support the development of the National Tenant Alliance and continued to work alongside tenants, government and sector partners to ensure lived experience informs housing policy and practice. This included invitations to contribute to MHCLG's Resident Stakeholder Forum and to deliver workshops and speeches at sector conferences.

Joseph DeVille, Chair of Project Working Group

Alongside our policy and research activity, we continued to develop evidence from our own grant-making. Early findings from our cash-first Heating and Eating Grants pilot demonstrated strong resident outcomes and have begun contributing to wider learning about more flexible, person-centred approaches to grant-making across the charitable sector.

Our priorities for the year ahead

During 2026/27, we will continue to deliver A Foundation for Purposeful Impact, building on the progress made during its first year. Our priorities are:

Innovate to deliver even more meaningful impact

We will continue developing flexible, resident-led funding that puts dignity and choice at the centre of how support is designed. Deeper insight and evaluation into resident need will refine our grant-making, and our research will continue to influence fairer policy across the social housing sector.

Increase our reach by diversifying our funding

We will strengthen our reputation for impact, deepen relationships with existing and new partners, improve how we communicate and evidence our impact, and build the sustainable funding base needed to reach more people for longer.

Equip ourselves to deliver lasting change

We will continue to invest in our people, technology and ways of working, embed resident voice throughout our decision-making, enhance the resident experience through digital innovation, and maintain inclusive, transparent governance.

Longleigh Foundation Team

Financial review

Income

Total income for the year ended 30 June 2026 was £393,421 (2025: £1,402,405), with the majority coming from investment income generated by our investment portfolio managed by Cazenove Capital.

Expenditure

Total expenditure was £1,363,768 (2025: £1,248,373) with 81.9% of total spend going to grant-making and its associated direct costs.

Operating costs

Operating costs were £246,522 (2025: £206,512), covering investment management, operational and support costs incurred in running the charity.

Investment

Longleigh maintains a long-term investment in Cazenove's Charity Responsible Multi-Asset Fund (RMAF), with a focus on ethical investment and a return objective of 3-5% after inflation and fees. Our Treasury Management policy ensures sufficient liquidity through secure and accessible deposits.

Our investment approach aligns with our values. The RMAF follows a strong Environmental, Social and Governance policy, including screening to exclude areas of significant social or environmental harm and provides regular updates on its social impact.

The Finance and Investment Committee reviews investment performance quarterly and meets with the investment managers at least annually. During this year, the Board commissioned an independent triennial review of the investment strategy and investment managers, which found no causes for concern.

At year end, investments were valued at £7,318,427 (2025: £7,088,973) with net investment gains for the year of £979,325 (2025: net investment losses of £92,659).

Longleigh's total return for the year ended 30th June 2026 was 19.1% (2025: 2.5%). The Finance and Investment Committee met with Cazenove twice in the past year to discuss the current economic environment and how Cazenove is responding to changing market conditions.

While investments performed well this year, markets remain volatile. The Board receives regular updates from Cazenove to ensure the investment strategy remains robust.

Reserves

The total reserves at year end were £8,429,239 (2025: £8,420,261), comprising £8,188,282 (2025: £8,189,454) restricted funds and £240,957 (2025: £230,807) in unrestricted funds.

Our reserves policy has two key elements:

- Short-term reserves: We hold unrestricted cash equal to at least 3 months' forecast operating costs, including direct salaries. The current minimum is £123,185. At year end, unrestricted reserves were £240,957, exceeding this minimum.

- Long-term reserves: Restricted funds should not fall below 12 months' operating costs plus the maximum potential value of all multi-year grants, assuming reporting requirements are met. At year end, this minimum was £492,738. Restricted reserves were £8,188,282, exceeding this requirement. These funds must be used in line with donor specifications (see Note 13).

Our aim is to build restricted reserves that generate income to support grant expenditure and operating costs. Reserves are being built up through annual donations from Stonewater Ltd, as agreed with them, strengthening Longleigh's resilience against income shocks and uncertainty.

Managing risk

Trustees review Longleigh's risk register at each Board meeting, based on the likelihood and potential impact, and mitigations. The Chief Executive supports the trustees in monitoring changes in risk levels or the emergence of new risks.

This year, we strengthened our approach to risk, using scenario testing to assess the policies and mitigations we have in place for key risks.

Principal risk	How we manage the risk
Financial sustainability	We continue to strengthen our long-term financial resilience by maintaining a close strategic relationship with our founder Stonewater while diversifying our funding base, closely monitoring budgets, cash flow and investment performance, and maintaining appropriate financial reserves and controls.
Delivery of charitable impact and reputation	We monitor the effectiveness of our grant-making through performance reporting, impact measurement and evaluation. We continue to strengthen our evidence base, publish our grant data openly, and maintain clear communications and stakeholder engagement to protect and enhance our reputation.
Operational resilience	We invest in our people, systems and processes to ensure we can continue to deliver our charitable objectives. This includes business continuity planning, safeguarding arrangements, cyber security controls, fraud prevention measures and regular review of our grant management processes.

Legal and regulatory compliance	We maintain policies, procedures and training to ensure compliance with charity law, data protection, health and safety and other regulatory requirements. Compliance is monitored through internal controls and external audit where appropriate.
Governance and organisational effectiveness	The Board regularly reviews its skills, effectiveness and succession planning to ensure it has the experience, diversity and oversight required to deliver our strategy. Policies and governance arrangements are reviewed regularly to reflect legislative and organisational change.

The trustees are satisfied that appropriate systems of internal control and risk management are in place and that none of the principal risks identified have materialised during the year that threaten the Foundation's ability to continue delivering its charitable objectives.

Fundraising

Longleigh Foundation does not actively solicit donations from individuals and has received no fundraising complaints.

Structure, governance and management

Governing document

Longleigh Foundation is a company limited by guarantee governed by its Memorandum and Articles of Association. It is registered at Companies House (no 09923402) and with the Charity Commission in England and Wales (no 1169016).

Trustees

The trustees are selected for their expertise, skills, and knowledge in governance, the charity's work, lived experience, and the social housing sector. As our founder and principal donor, Stonewater Limited can appoint one person as a trustee (as set out in the articles).

During the period, Tim Giles, Richard Lakey, Nayantara Nath and Toby Deakin joined the Board. Trustees serve three-year terms of office and may be re-appointed up to a maximum of nine consecutive years.

The Board is committed to Equality, Diversity and Inclusion (EDI) and embedding continual development in this area.

Finance & Investment Committee

To support the trustees to fulfil their financial responsibilities, our finance and investment committee meets quarterly to review Longleigh's risks, finances and investments, and to make recommendations to the board.

The committee consists of three trustees with investment, accounting and charity finance expertise.

Governance Committee

To support the trustees to meet their governance responsibilities, our governance committee meets annually (and as needed), to review policies and oversee delivery of the governance review findings.

The committee consists of three trustees with HR, law and charity governance knowledge.

Structure, governance and management

Decision making

The Board of Trustees is collectively responsible for good governance practices, legal and regulatory compliance, and protection of the Foundation's resources. The Board meets quarterly to set strategy and policies, oversee finances and grant funding, and monitor overall performance. Additionally, the Board reviews and determines the remuneration of key management personnel on an annual basis. Trustees are not remunerated for their services.

Longleigh has adopted the UK Charity Governance Code for smaller charities 2020 and regularly monitors its compliance with this code. During 2025/26 Longleigh complied fully with the Code with the exception of some of the detailed requirements on benchmarking of performance, impact assessment and equality, diversity and inclusion on which active plans are in place.

Day-to-day management of the Longleigh Foundation is delegated to the Chief Executive, who, along with the staff team, oversees the charity's work by following grant-making policies and procedures and implementing operational processes to fulfil the charity's mission.

For the first three months of the year, Longleigh Foundation received Company Secretarial services from Stonewater Limited.

Related parties

Longleigh Foundation is primarily funded through donations from Stonewater Limited. The trustees confirm that the charity's activities will always align with its charitable objectives.

Any benefit to Stonewater Limited from the Longleigh Foundation's activities is incidental and outweighed by our charitable objectives. Please see note 16 for further Related Party transaction details.

Statement of trustees' responsibilities

The trustees (who are also directors of Longleigh Foundation for company law purposes) are responsible for preparing the trustees' annual report and the financial statements in accordance with applicable law and United Kingdom Generally Accepted Accounting Practice (United Kingdom Accounting Standards).

Company law requires the trustees to prepare financial statements for each financial year. Under company law the trustees must not approve the financial statements unless they are satisfied that they give a true and fair view of the state of affairs of the charitable company and of the incoming resources and application of resources, including the income and expenditure of the charitable company for that period. In preparing these financial statements, the trustees are required to:

- Select suitable accounting policies and then apply them consistently.
- Observe the methods and principles in the Charities SORP.
- Make judgements and estimates that are reasonable and prudent.
- State whether applicable UK accounting standards have been followed, subject to any material departures disclosed and explained in the financial statements.
- Prepare the financial statements on the going concern basis unless it is inappropriate to presume that the charitable company will continue in business.

The trustees are responsible for keeping adequate accounting records that are sufficient to show and explain the charitable company's transactions, disclose with reasonable accuracy at any time the financial position of the charitable company and enable them to ensure that the financial statements comply with the Companies Act 2006 and the provisions of the charity's constitution. They are also responsible for safeguarding the assets of the charity and hence for taking reasonable steps for the prevention and detection of fraud and other irregularities. The trustees are also responsible for the maintenance and integrity of the corporate and financial information on the charity's website. UK legislation may differ from that of other jurisdictions.

Disclosure of information to auditors

Insofar as each trustee at the date of approval of this report is aware, there is no relevant audit information of which the charity's auditor is unaware; and the trustee has taken all steps that they ought to have taken to make themselves aware of any relevant information and to establish that the charity's auditor is aware of that information.

Small companies exemption

In preparing this report the trustees have taken advantage of the small companies' exemptions provided by section 415A of the Companies Act 2006.

Approved by the trustees on 17th November 2026 and signed on their behalf by:

Fiona Ellison
Chair

Opinion

We have audited the financial statements of Longleigh Foundation (the 'charitable company') for the year ended 30th June 2026, which comprise the statement of financial activities, the statement of financial position, the statement of cash flows, the principal accounting policies and the notes to the financial statements. The financial reporting framework that has been applied in their preparation is applicable law and United Kingdom Accounting Standards, including Financial Reporting Standard 102 'The Financial Reporting Standard applicable in the UK and Republic of Ireland' (United Kingdom Generally Accepted Accounting Practice).

In our opinion, the financial statements:

- Give a true and fair view of the state of the charitable company's affairs as at 30th June 2026 and of its income and expenditure for the year then ended; and
- Have been properly prepared in accordance with United Kingdom Generally Accepted Accounting Practice; and
- Have been prepared in accordance with the requirements of the Companies Act 2006.

Basis for opinion

We conducted our audit in accordance with International Standards on Auditing (UK) (ISAs (UK)) and applicable law. Our responsibilities under those standards are further described in the auditor's responsibilities for the audit of the financial statements section of our report. We are independent of the charitable company in accordance with the ethical requirements that are relevant to our audit of the financial statements in the UK, including the FRC's Ethical Standard, and we have fulfilled our other ethical responsibilities in accordance with these requirements. We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion.

Conclusions relating to going concern

In auditing the financial statements, we have concluded that the trustees' use of the going concern basis of accounting in the preparation of the financial statements is appropriate.

Based on the work we have performed, we have not identified any material uncertainties relating to events or conditions that, individually or collectively, may cast significant doubt on the charitable company's ability to continue as a going concern for a period of at least twelve months from when the financial statements are authorised for issue.

Our responsibilities and the responsibilities of the trustees with respect to going concern are described in the relevant sections of this report.

Other information

The other information comprises the information included in the annual report, including the trustees' report, other than the financial statements and our auditor's report thereon. The trustees are responsible for the other information contained within the annual report. Our opinion on the financial statements does not cover the other information and, except to the extent otherwise explicitly stated in our report, we do not express any form of assurance conclusion thereon.

Our responsibility is to read the other information and, in doing so, consider whether the other information is materially inconsistent with the financial statements or our knowledge obtained in the course of the audit or otherwise appears to be materially misstated. If we identify such material inconsistencies or apparent material misstatements, we are required to determine whether this gives rise to a material misstatement in the financial statements themselves. If, based on the work we have performed, we conclude that there is a material misstatement of this other information, we are required to report that fact.

We have nothing to report in this regard.

Opinion on other matters prescribed by the Companies Act 2006

In our opinion, based on the work undertaken in the course of the audit:

- The information given in the trustees' report, which is also the directors' report for the purposes of company law, for the financial period for which the financial statements are prepared is consistent with the financial statements; and

- The trustees' report, which is also the directors' report for the purposes of company law, has been prepared in accordance with applicable legal requirements.

Matters on which we are required to report by exception

In the light of the knowledge and understanding of the charitable company and its environment obtained in the course of the audit, we have not identified material misstatements in the trustees' report. We have nothing to report in respect of the following matters in relation to which the Companies Act 2006 requires us to report to you if, in our opinion:

- Adequate accounting records have not been kept, or returns adequate for our audit have not been received from branches not visited by us; or
- The financial statements are not in agreement with the accounting records and returns; or
- Certain disclosures in respect to the remuneration of trustees specified by law are not made; or
- We have not received all the information and explanations we require for our audit; or
- The trustees were not entitled to prepare the financial statements in accordance with the small companies regime and take advantage of the small companies' exemptions in preparing the trustees' report and from the requirement to prepare a strategic report.

Responsibilities of trustees

As explained more fully in the statement of trustees' responsibilities contained within the trustees' report, the trustees (who are also the directors of the charitable company for the purposes of company law) are responsible for the preparation of the financial statements and for being satisfied that they give a true and fair view, and for such internal control as the trustees determine is necessary to enable the preparation of financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

In preparing the financial statements, the trustees are responsible for assessing the charitable company's ability to continue as a going concern, disclosing, as applicable, matters related to going concern and using the going concern basis of accounting unless the trustees either intend to liquidate the charitable company or to cease operations, or have no realistic alternative but to do so.

Auditor's responsibilities for the audit of the financial statements

Our objectives are to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements as a whole are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error, and to issue an auditor's report that includes our opinion. Reasonable assurance is a high level of assurance, but is not a guarantee that an audit conducted in accordance with ISAs (UK) will always detect a material misstatement when it exists. Misstatements can arise from fraud or error and are considered material if, individually or in the aggregate, they could reasonably be expected to influence the economic decisions of users taken on the basis of these financial statements.

Irregularities, including fraud, are instances of non-compliance with laws and regulations. We design procedures in line with our responsibilities, outlined above, to detect material misstatements in respect of irregularities, including fraud. The extent to which our procedures are capable of detecting irregularities, including fraud is detailed below.

Our approach to identifying and assessing the risks of material misstatement in respect of irregularities, including fraud and non-compliance with laws and regulations, was as follows:

- We ensured that the engagement team collectively had the appropriate competence, capabilities and skills to identify or recognise non-compliance with applicable laws and regulations; and

- We obtained an understanding of the legal and regulatory frameworks that are applicable to the charitable company and determined that the most significant frameworks which are directly relevant to specific assertions in the financial statements are those that relate to the reporting framework (Statement of Recommended Practice Accounting and Reporting by Charities preparing their accounts in accordance with the Financial Reporting Standard applicable in the United Kingdom and Republic of Ireland (FRS 102), the Charities Act 2011, and the Companies Act 2006).

We assessed the susceptibility of the charitable company's financial statements to material misstatement, including obtaining an understanding of how fraud might occur, by:

- Making enquiries of management as to their knowledge of actual, suspected and alleged fraud; and

- Considering the internal controls in place to mitigate risks of fraud and non-compliance with laws and regulations.

To address the risk of fraud through management bias and override of controls we:

- Performed analytical procedures to identify any unusual or unexpected relationships; and
- Performed substantive testing of expenditure; and
- Reviewed journal entries to identify unusual transactions.

In response to the risk of irregularities and non-compliance with laws and regulations, we designed procedures which included, but were not limited to:

- Reviewing the minutes of meetings of those charged with governance; and
- Enquiring of management as to actual and potential litigation and claims.

There are inherent limitations in our audit procedures described above. The more removed that laws and regulations are from financial transactions, the less likely it is that we would become aware of non-compliance. Auditing standards also limit the audit procedures required to identify non-compliance with laws and regulations to enquiry of the trustees and other management and the inspection of regulatory and legal correspondence, if any.

Material misstatements that arise due to fraud can be harder to detect than those that arise from error as they may involve deliberate concealment or collusion.

A further description of our responsibilities for the audit of the financial statements is located on the Financial Reporting Council's website at www.frc.org.uk/auditorsresponsibilities. This description forms part of our auditor's report.

Use of this report

This report is made solely to the charitable company's members, as a body, in accordance with Chapter 3 of Part 16 of the Companies Act 2006. Our audit work has been undertaken so that we might state to the charitable company's members those matters we are required to state to them in an auditor's report and for no other purpose. To the fullest extent permitted by law, we do not accept or assume responsibility to anyone other than the charitable company and the charitable company's members as a body, for our audit work, for this report, or for the opinions we have formed.

Principal accounting policies: year ended 30th June 2026

Charity information

The charity is a company limited by guarantee (registered number 09923402, charity number 1169016), which is incorporated in the UK. The address of the registered office is Suite C, Lancaster House, Grange Business Park, Enderby Road, Whetstone, Leicester, LE8 6EP.

Basis of preparation

The financial statements have been prepared under the historical cost convention and in accordance with the Statement of Recommended Practice, Accounting and Reporting by Charities (applicable UK accounting standards including the Financial Reporting Standard applicable in the UK and Republic of Ireland (FRS 102), and the Companies Act 2006).

Longleigh Foundation meets the definition of a public benefit entity under FRS 102. The financial statements are presented in Sterling to the nearest pound.

Assets and liabilities are initially recognised at historical cost or transaction value unless otherwise stated in the relevant accounting policy note.

The principal accounting policies adopted in the preparation of the financial statements are as follows:

Significant judgements and estimates

The area in the financial statements where these judgements and estimates have been made is in relation to the allocation of indirect operating costs, and in estimating the useful economic lives of tangible and intangible fixed assets.

Going concern

The trustees have assessed whether the use of the going concern assumption is appropriate in preparing these financial statements. The trustees have made this assessment in respect to a period of at least one year from the date of approval of these financial statements.

The trustees of the charity have concluded that there are no material uncertainties related to events or conditions that may cast significant doubt on the ability of the charity to continue as a going concern. The trustees are of the opinion that the charity will have sufficient resources to meet its liabilities as they fall due.

Principal accounting policies: year ended 30th June 2026

Income

All income is recognised once the charity has entitlement to the resources, it is probable that the resources will be received and the monetary value can be measured with sufficient reliability.

Donations are recognised on a receivable basis where receipt is probable and the amount can be reliably measured. Donations are accounted for as unrestricted, unless there are restrictions under the terms on which they are received or solicited.

Expenditure

Expenditure is recognised on an accrual basis as a liability is incurred. Expenditure includes VAT which cannot be recovered.

Expenditure on raising funds comprises those costs directly attributable to the management of our investment fund, communications strategy and other fundraising costs which are incurred in seeking voluntary contributions for the charity.

Expenditure on charitable activities comprises those costs incurred by the charity in the delivery of its activities and services for its beneficiaries. These include project and research grants to third party institutions and hardship grants to individuals.

All multi-year project grants are subject to satisfactory annual review and reporting as set out in the funding agreement and are therefore only accounted for when this condition has been met. Estimated future costs of existing project grants are shown in note 17 to the financial statements.

Governance costs include those costs associated with meeting the constitutional and statutory requirements of the charity, as well as working to best-practice standards (as set out in the Governance Code) and include audit fees and costs linked to strategic management of the charity. These are allocated in line with the policy below.

Allocation of operating costs

Operating costs, including direct staff costs, are allocated directly to the activity that they relate to where possible.

Indirect operating costs have been apportioned to the activity based on the estimated staff time spent on each activity. This is 5% to raising funds, 75% individual grants, 15% project grants and 5% research grants (2025: same allocation). The above apportionment of staff's time reflects the fact that individual grants are much more time intensive, with a higher volume and lower value per grant than project grants.

Principal accounting policies: year ended 30th June 2026

Financial instruments

The company only has financial assets and financial liabilities of a kind that qualify as basic financial instruments. All basic financial instruments are held at amortised cost. Financial assets comprise cash at bank, together with trade and other debtors. Financial liabilities comprise all creditors except social security and other taxes.

Fixed assets and depreciation

All assets costing more than £1,000 are capitalised and valued at historical cost.
Depreciation on assets is charged to allocate the cost of assets less their residual value over their estimated useful lives, using the straight-line method. The estimated useful life for computer equipment is three years. The estimated useful life for the Grant Management System is five years.

Investments

Investments are initially measured at cost and subsequently at market value. Investment gains and losses, whether realised or unrealised, are recognised in the statement of financial activities in the period in which they arise.

Debtors

Debtors are initially recognised at their settlement amount and subsequently at amortised cost of their recoverable amount. Prepayments are valued at the amount prepaid.

Cash

Cash held by the investment managers within liquidity funds is shown separately on the balance sheet, but may be accessed at short notice to meet day-to-day contingencies and therefore deemed to be a cash equivalent.

Creditors

Creditors are recognised when there is an obligation at the balance sheet date because of a past event, it is probable that a transfer of funds to a third party will be required in settlement and the amount due to settle can be measured or estimated reliably.

Creditors are initially recognised at fair value, being the amount the charity anticipates it will pay to settle the debt, and subsequently at amortised cost.

Fund accounting

The charity's unrestricted general fund consists of funds which the charity is free to use for any purpose in furtherance of its charitable objects.

Restricted funds are funds that can only be used for specific restricted purposes within the objects of the charity as laid down by the donor. Expenditure which meets these criteria is charged to the fund. Further explanation of the nature and purpose of each fund is included in note 13 to the financial statements.
